The main layout diagram shows a large rectangular area defined by a green border (bleed area). Inside this, a brown border (die cut line) defines the overall item size. Within the brown border, there are two main sections:

- A large, empty rectangular area at the top, bounded by the blue imprint area line.
- A smaller rectangular area at the bottom, divided into two columns. The right column contains the text "Today I feel..." above a square area defined by a blue imprint area line. This square area is further nested by a brown die cut line and an outer green bleed area line.
